Rose Marie Sloan brings a wealth of experience and diversity to Mesa Community College and The Chair Academy. She owns a Bachelor of Science in Child Development from CSU Fullerton and a Master of Science in Instructional Leadership from National University. Rose Marie has an Administrative Services Credential from National University, a Professional Teaching Credential from CSU Fresno, and a Cross Cultural Language and Development Certificate from UC San Diego. She is a certified Administrator/Principal in Arizona and California and is certified to teach in both states. An alumni of the Harvard Kennedy School Executive Education, she has completed The Art and Practice of Leadership Development program at Harvard University, John F. Kennedy School of Government.

A native of Southern California, Rose Marie has over 20 years of classroom experience, working with both the Diocese of Fresno and The Los Banos Unified School District. Serving as a Master Teacher, Academic Coach, and Professional Development Leader, Rose Marie designed, developed, and implemented Common Core Literacy Curriculum focused on retention and achievement, for grades K-12. She coordinated workshops and led discussions on lesson study, peer coaching, mentoring, and educational leadership.

After moving to Phoenix in 2012, Rose Marie worked as a Consultant for Pearson Education, and became an Adjunct Faculty member of Grand Canyon University's College of Education, where she supervised, mentored, and evaluated GCU's future candidates for administrative and teaching positions.

Rose Marie is dedicated to the mission, vision and values of the Chair Academy and committed to the Academy for Leadership Development goal: to provide relevant, learning-centered training and professional development for organizational leaders, resulting in positive change and professional growth. She designs and updates curriculum for the Academy Foundation Program, connecting theory and practice of leadership and management. As a Strengths Based Educator, Peer Coach, and Trainer for Everything DiSC Workplace Behavior Styles and Crucial Conversations, Rose Marie is devoted to creating innovative learning environments that promote opportunities for personal and professional growth. She has facilitated programs across the United States and Canada and continues to consult with professional associations and leaders across the globe.
