As the Chief Executive Officer of the Chair Academy, Rose Marie Sloan brings a wealth of experience, diversity and passion to this global leadership development organization. The Chair Academy offers world-class, learning-centered training and professional development for higher education and organizational leaders, resulting in positive change and professional growth. For the past 25 years, the Academy has conducted more than 300, comprehensive Foundation and/or Advanced Academies, helping to enhance leader skill sets by developing transformational leaders who create real value in their organizations.

With a Bachelor of Science in Child Development from CSU Fullerton, and a Master of Science in Instructional Leadership from National University, Rose Marie is committed to life-long learning. She has an Administrative Services Credential from National University, a Professional Teaching Credential from CSU Fresno, and a Cross Cultural Language and Development Certificate from UC San Diego. She is an accredited Administrator/ Principal in Arizona and California, and certified to teach in both states. An alumni of the Harvard Kennedy School Executive Education, she completed The Art and Practice of Leadership Development program at Harvard University, John F. Kennedy School of Government.

Rose Marie has over 20 years of classroom experience, serving as a Master Teacher, Academic Coach, and Professional Development Leader. Working with teachers across grade levels, she designed, developed, and implemented Common Core Literacy Curriculum focused on student retention and success. She led numerous cohort groups and coordinated workshops focused on lesson study, peer coaching, mentoring, and educational leadership.

After moving to Phoenix in 2012, Rose Marie worked as a Consultant for Pearson Education, and became an Adjunct Faculty member of Grand Canyon University's College of Education, where she supervised, mentored, and evaluated GCU's future candidates for Educational Administration and teaching positions. Serving as the Executive Officer for the Chair Academy, Rose believes in the vitality and viability of the Academy and plans to "honor the past, while looking to the future." She views the Academy as a "premier leadership development organization, developing transformational leaders globally." Working directly with the Academy Team and Advisory Boards, she is steadfast in the mission and values of the organization.... "committed to excellence and continuous improvement, creating innovative, learning environments that promote opportunities to advance academic and administrative leadership."

As a Strengths Based Educator, Peer Coach, and Trainer for Everything DiSC Workplace Behavior Styles and Crucial Conversations, Rose Marie facilitates Academy programs across the United States, Canada and Australia, and continues to consult with professional associations and leaders across the globe. In addition, she leads the Academy's Editorial Board as Managing Editor of LEADERSHIP. With the Editorial Board, she has organized and published 14 titles.
